

Q. What disposition has been made of the public lewdness charges filed against Gen. Edwin Walker, 67, former commanding general of U.S. troops in Germany? I believe Walker was also a candidate for governor of Texas.—F. L., El Paso, Tex.

PARADE 7/24/77
A. General Walker was convicted recently of public lewdness for propositioning a policeman in a Dallas park lavatory. He was fined $1000, placed on probation for one year. He was arrested first on June 23, 1976, and arrested a second time on March 16, 1977, in another park; he was charged both times with misdemeanors. Walker pleaded no contest on the first of the charges. The second case has not come to trial as of this writing.
